Drug and Alcohol Counseling Services

Using ARRA money, students at both MCI, Alternative Education and Warsaw Middle School will have the opportunity to work with Maxine Wolph-Johnson, a licensed counselor on a weekly basis.

She will be doing both group and individual counseling for us as well as assessments. We are very fortunate to be able to contract with her for the next year. I am hoping to see a positive impact from her work with students!

New Math Program hits the schools!!

The special education department after a careful review has selected a new math program for all students needing math services K-8. It is called the Saxon math program and teachers have had the materials all summer and there have been two trainings to help staff become familiar with the program.

There is a mixture of both work problems and skill practice. There is also a daily opportunity for practicing math facts. And of course there will be math homework!!

If you would like to explore the program the website is:

The best part of this program is that it takes students through the math progress in small chunks with practice and then it reviews the previous lessons so students are constantly working and reviewing a variety of mathematical strategies.
